IAS 8 Accounting policies, changes in accounting estimates and errors

(This fact sheet is based on the standard as at 1 January 2011.)

Important note:
This fact sheet is based on the requirements of the International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRSs). In some jurisdictions, the IFRSs are adopted in their entirety, in other jurisdictions the individual IFRSs are amended. In some jurisdictions the requirements of a particular IFRS may not have been adopted. Consequently, users of the fact sheet in various jurisdictions should ascertain for themselves the relevance of the fact sheet to their particular jurisdiction.

IASB application date (non-jurisdiction specific)
IAS 8 is applicable for annual reporting periods commencing on or after 1 January 2009.

OBJECTIVE/SCOPE
IAS 8 Accounting policies, changes in accounting estimates and errors prescribes the criteria for selecting and changing accounting policies together with the accounting treatment and disclosure of changes in accounting policies, changes in accounting estimates and the correction of errors.

IAS 8 is intended to enhance the relevance and reliability of an entity's financial statements, and the comparability of those financial statements over time and with the financial statements of other entities.

PREScribed ACCOUNTING TREATMENT
Accounting policies
International Financial Reporting Standards set out accounting policies that the IASB has concluded result in financial statements containing relevant and reliable information about the transactions, other events and conditions to which they apply.

In the absence of an IFRS accounting standard that specifically applies to a transaction, other event or condition, management shall use its judgement in developing and applying an accounting policy that results in information that is:

a) Relevant to the economic decision-making needs of users; and
b) Reliable, in that the financial statements
   i. Represent faithfully the financial position, financial performance and cash flows of the entity;
   ii. Reflect the economic substance of transactions, other events and conditions, and not merely the legal form;
   iii. Are neutral, that is, free from bias;
   iv. Are prudent; and
   v. Are complete in all material respects.

Accounting policies are selected and applied consistently for similar transactions, other events and conditions, unless an accounting standard requires or permits categorisation of items for which different policies may be appropriate.

An entity is able to change its accounting policy only if the change:

a) Is required by an Accounting Standard; or
b) Results in the financial statements providing reliable and more relevant information about the effects of transactions, other events or conditions on the entity's financial position, financial performance or cash flows.
Applying changes in accounting policies

Unless there are specific transition policies on adoption of a new Accounting Standard, all changes in accounting policies are applied retrospectively, where the entity adjusts the opening balance of each affected component of equity for the earliest prior period presented and the other comparative amounts disclosed for each prior period presented as if the new accounting policy had always been applied.

See IAS 8 for guidance on where retrospective application is impracticable.

Changes in accounting estimates

The use of reasonable estimates is an essential part of the preparation of financial statements and does not undermine their reliability.

An estimate may need revision if changes occur in the circumstances on which the estimate was based or as a result of new information or more experience. By its nature, the revision of an estimate does not relate to prior periods and is not the correction of an error.

The effect of a change in an accounting estimate, is recognised prospectively by including it in profit or loss in:

a) The period of the change, if the change affects that period only; or
b) The period of the change and future periods, if the change affects both.

To the extent that a change in an accounting estimate gives rise to changes in assets and liabilities, or relates to items of equity, it is recognised by adjusting the carrying amount of the related asset, liability or equity item in the period of the change.

Errors

An entity corrects material prior period errors retrospectively in the first set of financial statements authorised for issue after their discovery by:

a) Restating the comparative amounts for the prior period(s) presented in which the error occurred; or
b) If the error occurred before the earliest prior period presented, restating the opening balances of assets, liabilities and equity for the earliest prior period presented.

A prior period error is corrected by retrospective restatement except to the extent that it is impracticable to determine either the period-specific effects or the cumulative effect of the error.

Standards issued not yet effective

Paragraph 30 requires, when an entity has not applied a new Accounting Standards that has been issued but is not yet effective, the entity shall disclose:

a) This fact; and
b) Known or reasonably estimable information relevant to assessing the possible impact that application of the new Accounting Standard will have on the entity’s financial statements in the period of initial application.

This means that entities have to monitor standards issued not yet effective to determine their impact, if they choose not to early adopt.

DISCLOSURES

Refer Appendix 1 for a checklist to assist with IAS 8 disclosure requirements.

Note that disclosure requirements for accounting policies, except for changes in accounting policies are set out in IAS 1 Presentation of Financial Statements.

Financial statements of subsequent periods need not repeat these disclosures.
| IAS 8:30 | When an entity has not applied a new IFRS that has been issued but is not yet effective, has the entity disclosed:
   a) this fact; and
   b) known or reasonably estimable information relevant to assessing the possible impact that application of the new Australian Accounting Standard will have on the entity’s financial statement in the period of initial application. This includes:
      • the title of the new IFRS;
      • the nature of the impending change or changes in accounting policy;
      • the date by which application of the IFRS is required;
      • the date at which it plans to apply the IFRS initially; and
      • either a discussion of the impact that initial application is expected to have or if the impact is not known or reasonably estimable, a statement to this effect. | Yes / No / N/A | Explanation (if required) |
| IAS 8.39 and IAS 8.40 | Has the entity disclosed the nature and amount of a change in an accounting estimate that has an effect in the current period or is expected to have an effect in future periods, except for the disclosure of the effect on future periods when it is impracticable to estimate that effect? Where disclosure is impractical, has this fact been disclosed? | Yes / No / N/A | Explanation (if required) |
| IAS 8.49 | If a material error has been corrected retrospectively, has the following been disclosed?
   a) the nature of the prior period error;
   b) for each period presented, to the extent practicable, the amount of the correction for each financial statement line item affected, and if IAS 33 applies to the entity for basic and diluted earnings per share;
   c) the amount of the correction at the beginning of the earliest prior period presented; and
   d) if retrospective application is impracticable for a particular prior period, the circumstances that led to the existence of that condition and a description of how and from when the error has been corrected.
